Woman :

Last week, I went to the history museum in our town with my family. We saw many interesting things there.

First, we saw old plates and cups. People ate and drank with them about two thousand years ago. I was really excited to see those things. Mr. Ueno, one of the staff members of the museum, explained how people lived in those days. They hunted animals and grew plants. It's really different from our lives.

Next, we saw Japanese clothes from old times. Some of them were colorful and beautiful, so I wanted to wear them. Then, we saw how people lived two thousand years ago in pictures. There were houses and villages in the pictures.

Before leaving, we took a picture in front of the museum. I learned many things about Japanese history. It was a great day.
