Program Outline:

This is an education program focusing on “Project/Problem-Based Learning (PBL)” to develop flexible thinking in order to set tasks and solutions. By accepting students from a variety of countries and regions, a diverse range of students are able to work collectively to solve the numerous policy and social issues facing ASEAN countries and Japan.

This program looks to not only offer opportunities to study abroad for a semester at partner institutions in Thailand or Indonesia, but also provide an integrated program that includes pre-departure preparations and post-completion studies, and it features cooperative learning with Thai and Indonesian students at Ritsumeikan and the host universities. We hope participants will be able to acquire global perspectives and an innovative mind, which are assets in modern society, through this program.

Program Fee: Students must continue to pay the tuition fee to RU while abroad; however, tuition payments to the host institution are not required. Students are responsible for their own airfare, accommodations, tuition fees for special courses or supplementary intensive language courses, and other necessary expenses.

Scholarship: All outgoing PBL students nominated by Ritsumeikan University are eligible for a scholarship from Ritsumeikan. The maximum amount is 250,000 JPY per semester.

List of Partner Institutions for Exchange Program

- As for the institutions for which you can apply, the number of available places, the qualifications for application, etc., listed here are as of 2022 and are subject to change. When applying, please be sure to check the latest application requirements distributed at the time of recruitment.
- The language requirements for eligibility are the minimum language requirements required to participate in the exchange program and may differ from the language requirements required to take regular courses at the host institutions. You can participate in the exchange program if you meet the language requirements of the application qualifications. However, you must meet the conditions presented by the host institutions, such as participation in intensive language courses before the start of the program or restrictions on regular courses. For details, please check the latest application requirements (including the remarks column) distributed at the time of recruitment.
- If the institution has both English and its local language for the language of study, you will need to choose one language depending on which language you want to study in at the institution. At the time of application, it is necessary to submit a language proficiency test score, etc. only for the selected language (language of study) certifying that the requirements are met. If you want to take courses in a language other than the one selected as the language of study at the time of application, you may need to submit a separate language proficiency certificate.
- If the language of study is "English," either TOEFL iBT® or IELTS Academic score that meets the language requirements of the desired institution must be submitted at the time of application. The TOEFL iBT® MyBest™ score will not be accepted.
- As a general rule, student exchange program is for one academic year. As an exception, some institutions may have an option to study for one semester. The situation changes every year, so please be sure to check the latest application requirements distributed at the time of recruitment for the institutions for which the one-semester option is available.
- Those who have nationality of the destination country (including dual citizenship), those whose first language and selected language of study are the same, graduate students, and first-year students who apply for Fall-departure exchange must consult with the International Center before the application period starts.
- If the semester in which you finish studying abroad overlaps with the semester in which you graduate, please be sure to consult with your college office about participating in study abroad.
- CEFR is the "Common European Framework of Reference for Languages," not the name of a language exam. Please check the level of the language test and score of the language of study according to the CEFR standard, and prepare the appropriate certificate.
